

ALIEN HEALINGS

— The Medical Evidence —

Some people who have had close encounters with UFOs and alien beings have experienced sudden and miraculous healings of their chronic health problems.

Despite the fleeting nature of UFOs, UFO investigators have managed to collect a vast amount of evidence including eyewitness testimonies, photographs, moving films, radar returns, metal fragments, landing traces, medical effects, electromagnetic effects, animal reactions and thousands of pages of government documents. But in spite all this evidence, there are still many sceptics. Indeed, we are all waiting for the 'smoking gun' that will prove conclusively the reality of UFOs.

One form of evidence that can literally make or break a case is medical evidence. For the most part, study of these types of effects has been limited to injuries received as a result of a UFO encounter, and little attention has been paid to the positive effects.

But as it turns out, there are now over 100 documented cases of UFO healings on record. A UFO healing can be defined as a positive physiological reaction as a result of a UFO encounter. And as it turns out, virtually every major UFO investigator has uncovered cases of this type.

So, are UFO healings the 'smoking gun'? Are they the best evidence to convince the world that UFOs are here? There is a huge amount of evidence to support UFO healings, but what exactly is the 'best' evidence? Should the cases with the most reputable witnesses be given the highest priority? Or the multiple-witness cases? Or perhaps the cases with before-and-after diagnosis from medical doctors? And what about cases with little supporting evidence other than the witness's claim to have been healed by aliens, with all traces of the disease gone? The ideal case would contain all these elements. However, things rarely happen that way in the real world. UFO investigators are limited to trying to put together a huge jigsaw puzzle, and most likely with half the pieces missing!

With more than 100 cases of UFO healings, it shouldn't be too hard to come up with some solid cases. What follows are ten of what I believe to be among the strongest cases to support UFO healings. Each has been chosen for different reasons.

CASE #011: Cancer

This 1957 case was first revealed by Brazilian journalist João Martins and UFO investigator Olavo T. Fontes who was the official medical investigator of UFOs for the Brazilian Government.

According to the report, the daughter of a powerful and important man was suffering from stomach cancer. Doctors expected she would die. Then, in full view of her family and the maid, the young girl was healed by aliens. The case would never have seen the light of the day had not the maid of the family written a letter to a UFO investigator. What follows is a portion of the letter:

"...I personally witnessed the incident here related. I don't know if you will believe me, but I assure you that what I am going to tell you is the truth... The daughter of my employer suffered from cancer of the stomach. She suffered considerably, and I was employed to serve as a sort of governess and to assist the Señorita Lais, the daughter with cancer...

"I remember the night of October 25 very well. We expected her to die, as the pains of Señorita Lais were terrible. The injections seemed to have no effect. Her father was singing a verse, when suddenly a strong bright light came on to one side and shone directly on the house. We were all in the room of Señorita Lais whose window was situated exactly on the side of the house from which the light came. The only light inside was a small lamp at the head of the bed.

"'Look,' cried Julinho, a brother of the dying girl, as he ran to the window and saw a disc-shaped machine there in the light. It was not very big, and I am not learned enough to be able to say what its diameters might be or its height. I know that it was not very big...

"Suddenly, a port automatically opened in the object and two small beings emerged. They came towards the house, while a third one remained in the port of the disc...

"They had something on their hands that I thought were gloves. Their suits were white and seemed to be thick; the chest, the sides and the cuffs shined brightly. I do not know how to explain. They came up to the side of Señorita Lais who moaned in pain, eyes wide open and not understanding anything that was going on around her...

"Those 'humans' looked at me silently and stood at the side of the bed and Lais, placing the instruments they carried on the top of the milky coverlet. They made a gesture towards my employer, and one of them placed his hand on the forehead of Sr X. and 'discussed' the case of Señorita Lais with a bluish light that showed all of her interior. We saw all there was inside the belly of the girl. With another instrument that emitted a noise, 'he' pointed it in the direction of the stomach of Lais and we could see the cancer. The operation lasted about a half-hour... Then 'they' gave [Sr X.] a sphere made of stainless-steel-like metal which contained some 30 small white pills. She was to be given one per day and she would be cured.

"Lais later returned to her doctor who verified that her cancer had been cured... [Author's emphasis added.]

"Lais was condemned to die of cancer of the stomach, and in spite of this she was saved by an instrument that looked like a flashlight, that emitted rays that 'dissolved' the cancer, and she survived. They saved Señorita Lais and the same night returned to the flying machine and were gone."

This case is significant for many reasons. Firstly, it was one of the first reported UFO healing cases ever released to the public and therefore could not have been influenced by earlier reports. Secondly, the incident was witnessed by an entire family and the maid. Thirdly, a patient who was diagnosed with terminal cancer miraculously survived, evidently as a result of the UFO encounter. She was diagnosed afterwards as being free of cancer, which, of course, cannot be faked.

Another interesting aspect of this case is the physical evidence obtained. There are at least two other cases on record in which people were given medicine by aliens. In each case, samples of the medicine were saved for analysis.

Probably the most important aspect of this case is the obvious sincerity of the letter. This is obviously a complex case, and stands as one of the pioneering cases of UFO healings.

CASE #016: Diphtheria

This case was originally revealed by David Jacobs, PhD, in his book, Secret Life. The main witness used the pseudonym Lynn Miller but has now released her real name, Alice Haggerty.

In 1962, at the age of six, Alice was struck with diphtheria, an often fatal disease. Because of a religious background, she had not been vaccinated against the disease. For the same religious reasons, her parents refused to take her to hospital. They did call in a doctor who said that Alice's condition was very serious. Still, Alice's parents refused to listen.

Over the next two weeks, her condition deteriorated. The doctor visited daily, and at the end of the two weeks he told Alice's mother that he did not expect Alice to live through the night.

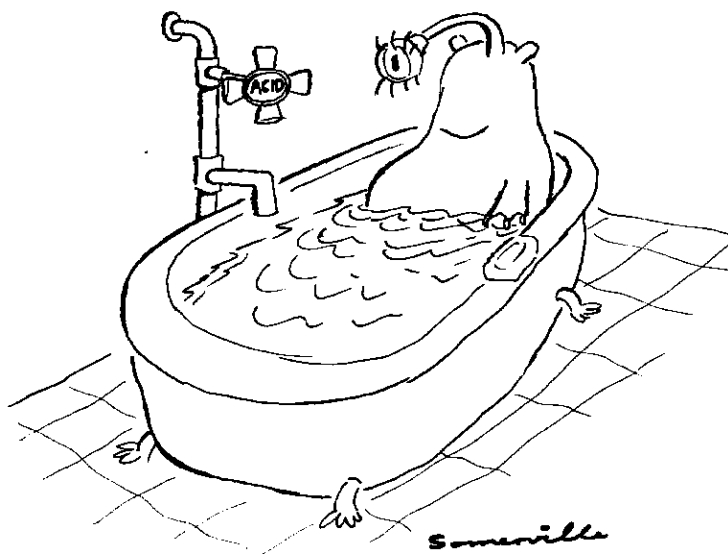

Alice, however, happened to be an abductee, and would eventually have several abduction experiences throughout her life. On the evening in question, Alice was apparently abducted by friendly aliens whom she described then as "angels in white robes with silver belts". She remembers being transported inside a UFO where the aliens told her she would be cured. They waved a small "rodlike device" around her body, and then made her stand inside a "large blue cylinder" with a little window. The aliens watched as a bright light was emitted from the top of the machine until it was about eight inches from the top of her head. The light then retreated and Alice was instructed to exit the cylinder.

According to Jacobs, the aliens "informed her in a matter-of-fact manner that she was now cured and 'cleansed'". Alice then underwent more of the typical procedures that are often performed aboard UFOs. The next morning, her mother found her playing on the floor as if everything was normal. Her mother and the doctor ordered her into bed, but they both admitted that the diphtheria was completely and totally gone.

This case is important for obvious reasons. Firstly, here is a young girl diagnosed by a doctor as having an advanced case of diphtheria. On the edge of death, she has a classic UFO encounter. The next morning, a few hours after the encounter, she is diagnosed by her doctor as being completely free of the disease. Furthermore, the witness can distinctly recall the procedure which ridded her of the disease. This is the type of proof that just cannot be ignored.

This case is also supported by the fact that it has been exhaustively investigated, not only by David Jacobs but by the witness herself. As the only reported healing case involving diphtheria, it is also unique and important.

On the edge of death, she has a classic UFO encounter. The next morning, a few hours after the encounter, she is diagnosed by her doctor as being completely free of the disease.

CASE #017: Flesh Wound

This case has been told and retold in numerous UFO books and articles and remains one of the all-time classic cases of UFO healings. On September 3, 1965, two police officers, Patrol Deputy Robert W. Goode and Chief Deputy Billy McCoy, were driving near Damon, Texas, when they both spotted a solid object with coloured lights rise up and hover overhead.

Suddenly, the unidentified object moved over the car and cast down a beam of light which struck Goode on his left arm. (Two days earlier, Goode had been bitten on his left index finger by his son's pet baby alligator. At the time of the UFO incident, the finger was swollen, painful and bandaged.)

"The inside of the car was lit up by the bright light," Goode said. "I could feel the heat from the light. We got out of there."

The two officers raced away in terror.

Afterwards, Goode noticed that his finger was no longer throbbing with pain. "I suddenly realised it was not bothering me and I pulled it out of the bandage. Hell, you couldn't tell I had ever been bit," he said.

Chief Deputy McCoy verified Goode's story. "The swelling had disappeared and the finger looked a lot better," he noted.

The two deputies later returned to the scene and, to their surprise, found that the UFO was still there. They eventually reported the sighting to the Air Force and were extensively interviewed by Major L. R. Leach, of Ellington Air Force Base, who concluded that the officers had in fact encountered an unidentified flying object. The press caught wind of the incident, and soon the two officers were besieged and their story became very well known.

This case is important not only because of the high reliability and good reputation of the police officers, but also because the case was fully investigated by a Major from the Air Force who could find no flaws in their account. Again, it would be folly to ignore such strong evidence.

CASE #019: Liver Hepatitis

This next case is compelling for many reasons. On December 7, 1967, Danish investigator Hans Lauritzen and four colleagues were conducting an active investigation of UFOs. Their research had led them to participate in routine skywatches to observe UFOs firsthand, rather than just investigate reports of sightings.

In February 1966, Lauritzen had contracted a severe case of liver hepatitis and had to retire and go on a pension. At the time of the UFO watch, Lauritzen was not only extremely weak and tired but his liver was increased in size by 10 centimetres.

Just before ending the skywatch on December 7, the five investigators were surprised to see two "great, dim, yellow globes about a hundred yards away from them". Lauritzen immediately became entranced. He then walked away from the group and had a telepathic communication with the UFO occupants. He was told in part that he has great power to help people.

Afterwards, Lauritzen came out of his trance and heard his friends calling. He ran towards them and noticed immediately that his health had dramatically improved. "I ran and ran so fast," he said, "that my four friends could not follow me. I had to wait for them. I realised I had been cured of my hepatitis."

Wisely, Lauritzen went to his doctor and was pronounced totally free of his disease. "I passed a medical examination," he said, "not mentioning my contact, of course; and to the surprise of the doctors, 10 centimetres of my liver had disappeared so that it was now normal size. The blood test showed that it functioned now as any other healthy liver...before I had a sick liver. At one time it was as much as 16 cm too large. Now I have a healthy liver. I am most thankful to the UFO for having cured my otherwise chronic disease... I swear to God that I have told the truth as far as I can see it."

This case is unique among UFO healing cases in that it was a UFO investigator who received the healing. Again, it shouldn't be taken lightly that a so-called 'chronic' condition disappeared as a direct result of a UFO encounter. The fact that the encounter was witnessed by four other people also lends considerable credibility to the account. And, of course, there is the obligatory doctor's examination which all but proves that something highly unusual occurred.

CASE #021: Flesh Wound and Partial Paralysis

Most of the healing cases occur to people who have little or no medical training. However, that is not always true. In this next case, it was a doctor who experienced the cure.

On November 2, 1968 in the French Alps, an anonymous doctor was awoken just before 4.00 am by the cries of his infant son. Upon investigation, the doctor saw two luminous discs hovering outside his son's bedroom. As he watched, the two discs converged into one and then emitted a powerful beam of light which struck the doctor on the front of his body.

At the time of the incident, the doctor was suffering from a partial paralysis of his right arm and leg caused by injuries received many years earlier during the Algerian War. The doctor was also suffering from a recent flesh wound on his ankle. He had been chopping wood three days earlier when the axe slipped and gouged deeply into his ankle, which was still swollen and painful.

After being struck by the beam of light, the doctor was dazed and shaken. He woke up his wife and told her what had happened. She instantly noticed that her husband's ankle wound had "completely disappeared". It was the next morning that the doctor realised he no longer suffered from any type of paralysis and he no longer walked with a limp. He was even able to take up piano-playing again, having been an accomplished player before his paralysis.

This case is important not only because it occurred to a doctor, but because the cure was verified by an independent witness immediately after it had occurred.

CASE #029: Teeth

This next case is highly credible because of the huge amount of physical evidence. On December 30, 1972, nightwatchman Ventura Maceiras of Argentina witnessed a bright light hovering above his home. Inside the light, he was able to discern a metallic craft with portholes. At this point, Maceiras was struck by a "brilliant flash of light" which shot out from underneath the craft.

For weeks following the encounter, Maceiras suffered from a number of alarming symptoms which seemed to indicate radiation poisoning—symptoms including hair loss, headaches, nausea, diarrhoea, eye irritation and "swollen red pustules" on his neck. Doctors were baffled, but, when Maceiras explained that the symptoms were caused by his UFO encounter, they had no choice but to believe him. His symptoms simply could not be faked.

There was a huge amount of supporting physical evidence. The tops of the hundred-foot-tall eucalyptus trees were scorched where the object had hovered. Maceiras' cat disappeared in full view when the beam came out of the craft; 48 days later, the cat reappeared with severe burns on its back. An abnormally large number of mysteriously dead catfish were found in a small stream at the exact location of the sighting.

There was so much physical evidence that the case attracted considerable attention from various officials. In a period of less than a month, Maceiras was interviewed over 60 times by multiple officials including doctors, police, government officials, UFO investigators and others.

Maceiras took weeks to recover from his injuries caused by the UFO. Then, less than two months after the encounter came the final but most incredible symptom of all. As verified by doctors, engineers, police officers and professional UFO investigators, Maceiras, although 73 years old, began to grow his third set of teeth.

UFO investigator Pedro Romaniuk was assigned to the case because of his high credentials as a former commander with an international airline and a technical investigator for the Argentine Air Force Aviation Accidents Investigation Board.

Romaniuk performed a follow-up visit to check up on Maceiras' physical condition. As Romaniuk noted: "Since approximately February 10, Maceiras has observed that new teeth have been appearing in his upper left gum. At the time of my visit, I was able to confirm that two front teeth and two cheek teeth were coming through and were approximately 2 mm to 3 mm long."

This case is significant not only because it has a huge amount of supporting physical evidence, but it is also one of the most exhaustively investigated cases in the history of ufology. The case is so well verified that it remains an undisputed classic case and has been reported in countless UFO publications.

CASE #054: Integumentary System

This next case was included because of the obvious sincerity of the witness, the dramatic physiological improvements caused by the encounter, and because it was a multiple-witness case.

On March 20, 1988, Professor of Indian Studies at the University of South Dakota, John Salter, Jr (aka John Hunter Gray) and his son were driving near Richland Center, Wisconsin, late at night when they both experienced a close-up UFO sighting followed by a period of missing time. They both recalled being examined by aliens. Salter also recalled being injected with needles as he lay on the examination table.

Almost immediately after the encounter, Salter began to notice a number of remarkable physiological changes. In fact, the changes were so apparent that Salter carefully tracked them and noticed improvements in over 18 areas including "improved skin tone, circulation, eyesight, faster blood-clotting after cuts and scratches, and faster and thicker growth of toenails and hairs". And that's not all. Salter also reported: "...many facial wrinkles have disappeared and others are fading; my face has narrowed and my neck area has slimmed (as has my entire body to some extent) and none of this has involved 'sagging'. My circulation has improved. Cuts clot immediately and heal very quickly; my energy level is way up; and I've had no colds or flu or any other illnesses since March 1988... [and] after all these years, I have a five o'clock shadow."

Although Salter did not rush to a doctor for a diagnosis, his improvements were easily noticed by all who knew him. His son also reported several similar physiological improvements.

Salter has been very active in the civil rights movement and is a widely respected UFO researcher in his own right. The huge number of physiological improvements, the obvious sincerity of the witness and the fact that the encounter had multiple witnesses all combine to make this one of the most astonishing and credible UFO healings on record.

CASE #071: Cyst

Some of the most convincing forms of evidence come from doctors' diagnoses, and this is just one of the reasons this case is included here.

In 1991 in Atlanta, Georgia, abductee Alicia Hansen (pseudonym) was diagnosed with a cyst. She was scheduled to have it surgically removed. However, before her doctors could perform the operation, she had a close encounter of the healing kind and her cyst mysteriously disappeared.

As Alicia explained: "...I was really worried about the cyst... I had already been diagnosed with the cyst by the doctors. I was having a lot of problems with it, too. They did an MRI where they take a picture and look at the cyst. So they saw the cyst and I was going to go back and have surgery on it."

Shortly before her surgery, Alicia had partial memories of an encounter. Then when she went to the hospital to have the cyst removed, she received quite a surprise.

"So I went back to the hospital to get another MRI done and make sure everything was okay. And the nurse said, 'Well, this is so strange'—not the nurse but the person who reads the picture. They said, 'This is really weird because if we didn't know any better, we'd say that you never had a cyst. But what's going on here is there's fluid in your Fallopian tubes. And the fluid, right where the cyst was—this fluid is not present when it ruptures. This is a fluid that is usually present after surgery...' So it completely looked as if I'd had surgery done, and I didn't."

This type of medical evidence is virtually undeniable. Alicia had been diagnosed with a cyst, and then the cyst had not only mysteriously disappeared, but there was physical evidence that "They said, 'This is really weird because if we didn't know any better, we'd say that you never had a cyst. But what's going on here is there's fluid in your Fallopian tubes. And the fluid, right where the cyst was—this fluid is not present when it ruptures.'" she had had surgery, and yet she hadn't. At least not by Earth doctors!

Alicia has had several other similarly remarkable healings. Furthermore, she has multiple witnesses to many of her encounters. There is simply no explanation for the fluid in her Fallopian tubes, other than surgery.

CASE #078: Tumour

This next case was investigated by highly respected UFO researcher William Hamilton, Jr. What makes this case remarkable is that there was a before-and-after diagnosis and the witness was able to obtain her medical records from her doctor, proving that something very unusual had occurred.

Morgana van Klausen (pseudonym) from southern California has had several close encounters through the late 1980s and early 1990s. On December 4, 1994, Morgana went to the doctor and discovered that she had an unwelcome tumour in her right breast.

According to Bill Hamilton: "An X-ray found a peculiarity in the axillary segment of the right breast. This was followed by an ultrasonography over the same area. A small non-cystic mass measuring 1.6 by 0.6 cm was found in the problem area."

Surgery was scheduled for December 14. A day before the surgery, on December 13, Morgana was driving with her son when they both saw a "white, triangular shaped craft" hovering nearby. Her son cried out: "Mom, look! Wow, this is a good sign. They are protecting us. We are protected. You wait and see. You'll have no more problems!" Those turned out to be prophetic words.

That evening, Morgana was overcome by intense pain in the area of the mass. She tried to get up out of bed, but was unable to move and then lost consciousness.

The next morning she went straight to the doctor to have her surgery. At the hospital, the doctor inserted a needle into the mass and took another X-ray. To everyone's surprise, the new X-ray showed that there was no mass. The old X-ray was retrieved which clearly showed the mass. Another ultrasound was ordered, which confirmed that the mass had disappeared.

Hamilton reported: "Both the radiologist and the surgeon confirmed that the previous diagnostic had revealed a solid mass, and that solid masses just don't disappear."

Here again we have before-and-after diagnostics as well as confirmation by a radiologist and surgeon which all but prove that surgery must have occurred.

CASE #089: Colour Blindness

This next case again provides definite proof of a UFO healing, not only because a chronic condition disappeared as a direct result of a UFO encounter but also because the healing was confirmed by the witness's doctor.

Eddie X. is a gentleman from the mid-western United States who had gone to UFO investigator John Carpenter to explore his many abductions. While the investigation was ongoing, Eddie X.

"During a physical examination by the beings," Carpenter said, "Eddie's right eye was removed. He felt it pulled out and replaced. Afterwards there was a redness, a physical soreness. He did not feel they were implanting anything behind his eye, only that they were 'fixing' him. The side benefit of this operation appears to be enhanced colours. The procedure was clearly for their purposes, not for Eddie's, but the partial accidental cure of his lifelong colour-blindness was a side effect."

Carpenter further substantiated the healing by obtaining a statement from Eddie's eye doctor, which said that Eddie suffered from "profound color blindness", though after his experience his vision "had improved up to green color blindness".

Carpenter's claim that the healing was "accidental" seems to be nothing more than pure speculation. What is an undeniable fact, however, is that the cure of a chronic condition was verified by a medical doctor. Again, how can something like this be explained, bearing in mind that the UFO aspect cannot be pushed aside?

MORE MIRACULOUS UFO/ET HEALINGS

The above ten cases are among the best evidence for UFO healings. However, they are by no means the only highly credible cases. Many other cases could just as easily have been included. It all depends on what one considers to be the 'best' evidence.

For example, nearly all cases involving healings of cancer and/or serious/chronic conditions are particularly impressive. If one is diagnosed as suffering from a chronic condition or fatal disease and then has a UFO encounter and is subsequently diagnosed as free of the condition/disease, is this not compelling evidence of a UFO healing?

Several witnesses also claim to have got hold of their before-and-after medical records which conclusively prove that they were in fact healed. Anecdotal evidence can also be very strong—certainly strong enough to convict somebody in a court of law. And if one case falls short in some aspect of evidence, there is always another case waiting to fill the niche. Isn't the fact that so many healings are being reported, strong evidence in itself?

There are countless other cases which have a stunning amount of evidence. Take the case of Ludwig Pallman who was cured of liver disease by an alien who visited him in his hospital room. Said Pallman: "All of this may be checked by any one of my readers. I became the miracle patient of the famous Maison Française Hospital in Lima, Peru." After Pallman's cure had been effected, his doctor told him: "You're fit as a flea....this is really baffling. Yesterday you were a very sick man, and today you seem to be a different person."

Or take the case of an anonymous gentleman from Finland who suffered from a congenital defect which left his liver abnormally enlarged—that is, until he had a close-up UFO encounter. The report on the case reads: "During this examination, the doctors found that his liver had been reduced to a normal size."

Another case which could easily have been included is that of Fred White of Durham, England, who was diagnosed with a hole in his heart—until he was cured by an alien while convalescing in hospital. One astonished doctor told White: "Your lung is completely inflated. The hole you had in there is healed. We've never seen anything like it."

Still another incredible cure of a heart defect occurred to an anonymous man from southern California. His doctors told him: "This is amazing. It looks like something has been somehow holding this defect together, but we can't figure out what it is."

Yet another well-known, inexplicable case was a cure of sterility which happened to former British Police officer Alan Godfrey. His doctor told him: "I don't know how it happened. Your condition has been completely reversed. The test shows you're fertile, back to normal."

More cases could be listed, complete with doctors' statements and other supporting evidence. With over a hundred cases on record, there simply isn't the space to do so in an article of this size, but the proof is there for those who are willing to look.

Nevertheless, UFO investigators are always searching for the one case that will absolutely blow away all the sceptics with a flood of physical evidence, and this case has yet to come—otherwise the existence of UFOs would be universally accepted. Still, the sheer number of cases is educating virtually everyone to the possible existence of extraterrestrials. Today, ufology is being studied within multiple scientific disciplines including astrophysics and psychology. We have had congressional conferences, countless television programs and film documentaries, endless publications of all types.

Whether we like it or not, UFOs are here to stay. It remains in our own best interests to learn all we can about them. And if these ETs continue to visit our planet, it is only a matter of time before conclusive evidence is obtained. The more knowledge we can gather about them, the better prepared we will be. When this conclusive evidence is finally obtained, it will potentially change the world and the way we view our place in the Universe. The future of ufology promises to be very exciting indeed.
